Right now, as you read this, your gift is powering life-changing moments across town and across oceans.

Jewish values compel us to be involved in addressing many of the most urgent issues of our time. To concern ourselves with the needs of the stranger; to offer our support to those facing hardship; and to improve the world in meaningful ways.

In Southern Maine, you’re powering all things Jewish— from food banks to future leaders— and you are making programs and initiatives possible that help strengthen and extend Jewish connections worldwide. There isn’t a single aspect of Jewish life that your gift doesn’t impact.

Many families in Southern Maine struggle to afford Hebrew School and Day School fees and to obtain quality materials that build Jewish knowledge for the whole family. Your gift helps ensure access to educational opportunities both in and out of the classroom that will have immeasurable impact and help to create a bright future for generations to come.

YOUR GIFT POWERS PJ Library in So. Maine, and supports Jewish education at Levey Day School, Temple Beth El, Congregation Bet Ha’am, B’nai Portland, Congregation Beth Israel, and Etz Chaim Synagogue in Biddeford.

YOUR GIFT POWERS thoughtfully chosen overseas allocations like Yad LaKashish, whose mission is to offer a sense of purpose, self-worth and connection to at-risk elders in Jerusalem through creative work opportunities and support services.

YOUR GIFT POWERS our ability to be the convener of the Jewish community. Working together with all Jewish organizations and synagogues and in interfaith coalitions makes this community stronger and more vibrant.

Because of you, the JCA is able to help meet immediate, critical needs through programs like the Michael Klahr Jewish Family Services Diaper Bank and Food Pantry, which together brought over 81,000 pounds of food and 300,000 diapers to those in need in Southern Maine last year. Whether locally or abroad, your support makes a tangible difference every day.

This year, in the wake of unprecedented attacks on Jews in Pittsburgh and Poway, CA, the JCA convened events that brought people of all backgrounds together to grieve, heal, share, and publicly express solidarity. Now more than ever, the JCA empowers a broad spectrum of Jewish expression and involvement in critical issues that impact us all.
